Plan Drastic Curb on All Commercial Construction Work

Industrial Building to be Cut Also; Clothing Prices Upped

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Senator Barkley (D-Ky) said today the administration will fight to restore $600,000,000 in subsidies when housing legislation is considered by the senate.

Barkley talked with reporters at the White House after congressional leaders conferred with President Truman. The house rejected subsidies on building materials and another key feature of the president's housing program—ceiling prices on old dwellings.

Th government was busy also rushing final touches on a ne[illegible]der designed to slash comm[illegible] and industrial construction so [illegible] more homes can be built.

The government's order on commercial type building was described by officials who have seen a preliminary draft as "drastic and far-reaching." It is scheduled for announcement soon.

These officials, who asked that their names not be published, said the order will hold up construction of thousands of non-essential stores, office buildings and factories still in the blueprint stage.

But they predicted it will hit hardest at proposed roadhouses, night clubs, theaters and other amusement projects. These will not be banned entirely, but builders will have to show there is a community need for such recreational facilities.

Sees "No Alternative"

The new order is being drawn up by the Civilian Production Administration and the National Housing Agency. They figure it will channel well over two-thirds of all building materials to residential construction.

"There's no alternative," said one official, "with the goal 2,700,000 new homes during the next two years."

There has been no decision yet whether to halt work on some commercial and industrial projects already underway.

CPA reportedly is opposing such a step because of the difficulty of where to draw the line. The agency also is making the point that it lacks an adequate field staff to enforce a stop-construction order of that kind.

Housing officials estimated that upwards of $50,000,000 a week in labor and materials is being expended on non-residential building.

"That's why these new restrictions have got to be slapped on quickly," an official said. "We've got to do something to stop this gobbling up of materials for projects which either are non-essential or can be built later on."

The new order, it was understood, also will have the effect of whittling down the number of homes which can be built to sell for more than $10,000.

Clothing Situation

Meanwhile government and industry officials expressed confidence today that price increases authorized for clothing will wash out the hoarding they say has been going on.

But just in case higher prices don't turn the trick, the Civilian Production Administration is about ready with a new order which it expects will close any remaining loopholes.

OPA's latest price adjustments apply to men's and boys' suits and coats and to a few other scarce apparel items, such as jackets and trousers.

The new order permits manu-

Cardinal's Body Starts for Home

Dublin, March 11—(AP)—To the slow measures of a dirge played by an Irish army band, a procession of mourners escorted the body of John Cardinal Glennon today through lines of sorrowing Irish folk to the outskirts of Dublin.

It was the beginning of the long last journey from the Cardinal's native land to his adopted home in St. Louis, where his body will be laid in crypt in the beautiful cathedral whose construction he guided.

A solemn requiem mass was sung in the chapel of All Hallows College in Dublic ,where the cardinal archbishop of St. Louis once studied to become a missionary to America's Missouri valley more than 60 years ago.

The little chapel was filled with high officials of the Eire government, members of the diplomatic corps and members of the cardinal's family with whom he spent a happy evening just a month ago when he stopped at Kinnegad in County Westmeath on his way to Vatican City to receive his Cardinal's red hat.

The cardinal's body had been borne into the All Hallows chapel yesterday before praying throngs, thousands of whom filed past his bier while the body lay in state.

Carrier Operation in North Atlantic Requires Changes

Aboard U. S. S. Midway, off Labrador, March 11—(AP)—New techniques for operating aircraft carriers in cold weather will be worked out as a result of this expedition into the North Atlantic.

Rear Adm. John H. Cassady, commanding the task group built around the 60,000-ton Midway, said that in general the dividing line for cold weather operations appears to be 15 degrees Fahrenheit.

Above that temperature air operations can be fairly normal, but below it special operating methods must be devised.

Several officers of long experience in naval air warfare agreed on this outline of winter operations:

Above 15 degrees, planes can operate almost exactly as they did in the Pacific except that more time must be allowed to prepare for launching.

Carrier personnel also must be increased, however, to provide for shorter watches and to make certain that the flight deck is kept clear of snow and ice

Seek Colder Weather

Below 15 degrees, it probably will be necessary to prepare planes for launching on the hangar deck, take them immediately to the flight deck and launch them, either with the catapult or by regular deck run.

Cassady said that radar is likely to be less effective in northern waters because of snow storms and that underwater sound devices also will be less effective.

Weather reporting and radio stations used for navigating must be increased, Cassady said, noting that the Midway has gone hundreds of miles beyond the northern most of the Coast Guard's weather ships.

The carrier, however, still is searching for weather which will provide a real cold weather test.

Temperatures yesterday morning were the lowest of the cruise, now in its 11th day, but not low enough to put any appreciable ice

Illegal Fines Charged to Two OPA Officials

Lewistown, Ill., March 11—(AP)—A hearing for two employes of the Office of Price Administration at Canton, Ill., arrested Saturday on confidence game warrants, was scheduled today before Justice of the Peace Opie Lambert.

The warrants, issued against Edward Fox of Pekin and Rosalie Baldwin of Canton, were based on complaints signed by Clyde Ludlum, until recently a Canton grocer, and accused the two OPA employes of "issuing false statements in an effort to illegally collect money".

State's Attorney Lachlan Crissey of Fulton county, who authorized the warrants, said the complaints charged that some Canton merchants had been accused falsely of violating OPA price regulations and had paid fines illegally assessed.

Spokesmen for the Peoria district OPA, which supervises the Canton headquarters, said it would be represented at the hearing. Fox and Miss Baldwin, meanwhile, were released on bond.

Exchange

Springfield, Ill.—March 11 (AP)—Nylon stockings are going to get two Springfield fans into the three day state high school basketball finals at Champaign this week.

Unable to purchase the scarce tournament tickets, John Caldwell manager of a loan company here, advertised in the Illinois State Journal offering "eight pairs of nylonh any size," in exchange for two tournament seats.

Caldwell said he and a friend received a bid today", and were going to take it".

Britain Backs U. S. Protest on Soviet Army in Manchuria

John Bull Also Asks Moscow for Reply on Situation in Iran

London, March 11.—(AP)—United States protests to Russia against the continued presence of Red army troops in Manchuria and the removal of industrial machinery from that section of China were bolstered today by a similar British complaint.

A British foreign office spokesman disclosed dispatch of a note on Manchuria to Moscow, following by several days the American protest. He added that the British government maintained that all factory installations in Manchuria should be left in the custody of the Chinese until an allied decision was made for their disposal.

The spokesman also said that the British charge d'affaires in Moscow had been instructed to "press for an early reply" to a note demanding an explanation of Russia's failure to evacuate Iran in accordance with a Big Three agreement. The United States previously had protested to Moscow over the situation in Iran.

The Moscow radio, meanwhile, decried what it described as "irresponsible talk" in the United States, and said it appeared that certain people there were attempting "to plant the seeds of a new world war: to poison the public mind against the Soviet Union."

Friendship Essential

The broadcast declared Soviet-American friendship was essential to world peace and asked why the United States should "defend British colonial policy."

"Why should any American feel that while British actions in the colonies and elsewhere are severely criticized, America should turn away from the United Nations and start getting ready for another world war?" the Moscow commentator asked.

"Clear thinking people in the United States [illegible] turn away from this third world war propaganda."

Red Fleet, official organ of the Russian navy, attributed the presence of Russian troops in Manchuria to a request by the Chinese.

China asked the Russians in December to remain until Feb. 1, instead of Jan. 1 as originally planned. China said she had received no reply to a query late in January as to whether Russia would withdraw her troops Feb. 1.

Says Hitler Was Abnormal in '40

Nuernbeerg, March 11—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's mentality underwent a change after his 1940 conquest of France and he became "abnormal", Field Marshal Gen. Erhard Milch, former chief of the luftwaffe, testified before the international military tribunal today.

"Hitler was not the same. There was some change", Milch said under cross examination by U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson.

Asked if he told anyone else of his suspicion concerning the fuehrer's mentality, Milch replied: "If I had I would have been shot immediately".

Milch said the luftwaffe was caught short at the outbreak of the war in 1939 because Hermann Goering, his immediate superior, had ordered in 1937 that the building of four-engined night bombers be discontinued.

Prior to 1937, he said, the production of these bombers was well under way, but the air staff recommended their discontinuance because "they believed expenditures could be spared since no one was figuring on a war at that time".

"Maestro X" Unperturbed as He Broadcasts Short Piano Recital

Detroit, March 11 — (AP)—"Maestro X", Wayne county General hospital's pianist who performed last night over a national radio hookup, today was believed a little further on the road to mental health.

Dr. Ira Althuler, psychiatrist at the hospital, announced he was "encouraged" by the rendition of the cadenza from Mozart's Concerto in D-Minor given by his charge, a 45-year-old musician once said to have been well-known, who was committed to the hospital nearly ten years ago.

Three recent events have done a lot toward bringing "Maestro X" out of his mental illness, according to the doctor, who describes the malady as "a form of negativism".

Two weeks ago he played for a convention of music teachers in Detroit, receiving acclaim that even included the word "genius". Last week he attended a concert of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and for a time left off the low muttering that has been a constant part of his illness, the doctor said.

The radio broadcast last night was the third step, Dr. Altchuler declared. His patient played for two and one half minutes over the air (CBS).

The "Maestro" seemed as unaware of his audience as he was on former occasions. He turned to acknowledge applause without a smile or bow, and showed no sign or emotion or recognition even when his 70-year-old mother came up to greet him after the performance.

Apparently taking little note of his surroundings, the pianist played on unperturbed as photographers flashed cameras around him. His only sign of restlessness came just before he went on the air, when he fingered the keys impatiently while waiting to start playing.

Yanks Ordered to Cease Criticism of Russians in Reich

Wuerzburg, Germany, March 11—(AP)—American troops in Wuerzburg were warned by their commanding officer today to refrain from criticizing the Soviet Union to the German people.

Lt. Col. Frank Ebey of Venice, Calif., issued this order to his command, the 203rd Antiaircraft Battalion:

"It has been brought to my attention that the morale of the civilian population of Wuerzburg has been raised as the result of a speech in the United States by a British politician, relative to our ally, the Russian people.

Russia is an Ally

"I have heard certain military personnel express agreement with these policies in the presence of German fraulems.

"This practice must stop immediately.

"The Soviet government is an ally of the U.S.A. and you are individually and collectively representatives of our government. I will not tolerate any disparaging remarks against our allies to the German people. This does not violate your right of free speech among yourselves

"I do not hate the German people. My policy in regard to dancing and social gatherings should indicate that fact to you, but I can't forget that the sun will alway set upon the grave of some American soldier. From Pearl Harbor and Bataan to the Elbe, your buddies are lying dead because of the Nazi party and the evil machinations of Hitler and his gang. Don't let your fraulein's opinion influence you. She has been raised in an atmosphere of hatred and intolerance of all nations on earth except the master race we have just whipped.

Russians Died, Too

"Millions of Russian soldiers and civilians died to save our skins. Just remember that. If propaganda causes you to hate the Russians, stop and think—they died for you, too. If you want to fight again, encouraging these frauleins to think we hate Russia is a good way to get things going.

"Those were the good old days, yes? Standing in halftracks all day in the bitter cold dirty, hungry and tired; firing off the line of departure; making river crossings and sweating out barrages. It is cold in Russia, remember that.

"I am not a pinko or a red. But the Russians are our allies. They have guts and by God I never want to fight again. Think it over. You have been warned".

Five Escape Injury in Peoria Air Accident

Chicago, March 11—(AP)—Five persons escaped injury today when the twin-engined plane in which they were starting a trip to Florida made a forced landing near the airport and later burned.

Among those on the plane was Miss Jane Page, 32, of Peoria, who is employed as a pilot at the Charter Plane service which operated the plane. She was not piloting the plane at the time of the forced landing.

Joliet Man Will Head State G. O. P. League

Aurora, Ill., March 11—(AP)—The John Ericsson Republican League of Illinois named G. Henning Peterson of Joliet, supervisor of Joliet township, president in an election of officers which concluded its 52nd annual convention Saturday.

Oliver H. Bovik, Chicago, was named vice president; J. Arthur Friedlund, Chicago, secretary, and Carl Quanstrom, of Bloomington, treasurer.

Russ Say Churchill Would Scuttle UNO for Anglo-U. S. Pact

Pravda Describes Talk as Failure; Hits at "Reactionaries"

Moscow, March 11—(AP)—Pravda declared today that Winston Churchill's proposal for a proposal for a British-American military alliance would liquidate the United Nations, end the coalition of three big powers and bring a return to power politics.

Breaking the Russian editorial silence on Churchill's March 5 speech, the three-column front-page editorial asserted it had been a failure, adding:

"No false speeches about democracy and freedom by convinced reactionaries such as Churchill and his American friends from the Vandenberg camp will succeed in drawing people onto the road to new wars being prepared for them."

The Communist party newspaper said Churchill had "mobilized his whole arsenal of oratorical art" to put over his point but had only succeeded in revealing himself as out of step with the times.

"Galloping Old Horse"

During the war, Pravda said, Churchill "pretended to be a friend of the Soviet people" but now that the danger was over he was revealing his "real feelings" and was "galloping on his old horse" again

Pravda said that by his proposal for creation of a British-American military alliance Churchill "frankly states that this military alliance must be directed against the U. S. S. R., against that power which bore on its shoulders the main burden of the struggle and played a decisive role in the defeat of Hitlerite Germany.

"But a military alliance of two participants of a coalition against a third signifies the liquidaton of the coaltion of the three great powers formed during the course

House Expected to Vote Cut for OPA

Washington, March 11—(AP)—Two key administration reconversion control agencies, the OPA and CPA, won restoration of funds today from a senate-house appropriations conference.

The senate previously had voted to slash two funds approved by the house fo roperation during the next four months of the Office of Price Administration and the Civilian Production Administration (peacetime successor to the War Production Board).

The conference agreement which now must be approved first by the house and then by the senate, allows:

CPA the full $1,500,000 voted by the house. The senate had cut this to $750,000 on a rollcall vote.

OPA $1,600,000 The house had voted $1,854,000 and the senate cut this to $927,000.

The funds are included in an "urgent deficiency" bill supplying money for the rest of the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

House conferees agreed to a senate change that would allow each of the 96 senators additional funds for clerk hire at hte rate of $2,400 a year.

Items not in dispute included $100,00,000 of loan funds for the Rural Electrification Administration and $159,000 for the Office of Defense Transportation.

Despite the conference agreement, key members said it is now certain the house will vote to trim OPA's powers.

1,500 Poults Die in Brooder House Blaze in Ogle Co.

Forreston, March 11.—1,500 ten-day-old turkeys were burned to death Saturday evening in a fire which destroyed a large brooder house on the Kermit Miller farm, seven miles northeast of Forreston. The blaze was discovered about 7:45 o'clock by members of the family and the building was almost completely burned before Forreston firemen, headed by Chief Oscar Vietmeier, arrived.

The firemen succeeded in preventing the spread of the flames to other brooder houses containing 3,500 more poults, the barn and dwelling.

Purchased 10 Days Ago

Miller purchased the 5,000 young birds 10 days for $3,750 He said he had not insured his flock because it was his custom to wait until they were two weeks old before doing so. In addition to the loss of the birds, the large modern brooder house also was destroyed.

Cause of the fire was not immediately known, but Miller said it probably was started by either one of the two brooder stoves in the building.

The building was located about 20 yards from the Miller home. Miller has been a turkey-raiser for the last six years.

Decatur Street is Scene of Fatality

Decatur, Ill., March 11—(AP)—Mrs. Daisy Coons, 68, was killed and her husband, Ira, 70, suffered serious head and chest injuries when they were struck by an automobile at a Decatur intersection yesterday.

Police Lieutenant Glenn Kerwin said the driver of the car, after stopping momentarily, sped away following the accident.

Sublette Widow's Death Accidental

A coroner's jury, called by Coroner Frank E. Nangle, Paw Paw to investigate the accident which took the life of Mrs. Lena Biddle, 72, in Sublette, returned a verdict of accidental death Saturday morning in Amboy. Lecil Holland, 24, who had been held as a material witness in the case, was released.

Mrs. Biddle died Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, shortly after being struck by a truck driven by Holland as she was crossing U. S. Route 52 in the Sublette business district. Funeral services were to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon

Holland, an ex-serviceman from Missouri, did not stop after the accident, but was apprehended in Mendota. He told authorities that he did not see Mrs. Biddle and that he did not know his truck had hit anyone.

Chinese Battle in Mukden as Russian Soldiers Withdraw

Reds' Sudden Departure Blamed for Upheaval in Manchurian City

Chungking, March 11—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist and Communist reinforcements today were reported moving to Mukden, the Central news agency said, the rival forces were battling after sudden withdrawal of Soviet troops.

Chinese press dispatches said that the Communists, heavily outnumbering Nationalist troops in the city of 2,000,000—Manchuria's largest—had occupied the power plant and northern district.

Other reports said the Central government had proclaimed martial law in the skeleton city, whose once-great industrial plants had been picked clean by the Russians.

The press reports declared that elements of four nationalist armies were marching to Mukden and that Communist reinforcements were moving in from the north. Government elements were identified as from the 13th, 52nd, 1st and 6th armies.

The Central Daily News said the Nationalist 14th division entered Mukden Saturday.

Blame Reds' Withdrawal

The suddenness of the Soviet withdrawal was blamed for the "serious" street fighting in Mukden. Dispatches said the Nationalists did not have sufficient troops to cope with the situation.

They said that for the past few days Soviet authorities in Manchuria, from Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, Soviet commander, to junior officers, had been inaccessible to Nationalist officials.

In Chungking, the Manchurian situation was discussed at a meeting presided over by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. It also figured largely in talks among Gen. George C. Marshall, President

Balanced

Springfield, Ill., March 11—(AP)—Migration of Illinois doctors following their release from the armed forces reached a new high in January and February when 130 applied for licenses to practice in other states the registration and education department reported today.

Of the 130 54 sought California licenses, the department said.

The report said however, that the exodus is being balanced by an influx to Illinois of physicians and surgeons from other states.

Battle for Control of CIO Auto Workers Union is Shaping Up

Roundup of Activities on Nation's Labor Fronts Briefed

BULLETIN

Gary, Ind., March 11—(AP)—A strike of some 315 street car motormen, bus drivers and maintenance personnel today left this city of 125,000 population and its suburban areas without commercial transportation.

Local members of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway & Motor Coach Employes (AFL) voted last night to strike at 7 a. m. today for higher wages.

Officials of Gary Railways, Inc., said 100 vehicles were in the barns.

(By The Associated Press)

John L. Lewis summoned his 250-man policy committee today to chart demands he will present to bituminous coal operators in negotiations opening tomorrow in Washington.

Lewis' AFL United Mine Workers Union, representing 400,000 employes of the soft coal industry, already has taken legal preliminaries for a strike, should negotiations on a contract to replace the one expiring April 1 fail.

A royalty on each ton of coal mined, which would be placed in the union welfare and hospitilization fund, was expected to be one of Lewis' chief demands. Also likely were proposals for a shorter work week, without a proportionate loss in earnings, and recognition of a UMW union for supervisory workers, including mine foremen.

As labor disputes kept 757,000 workers idle, about half of them in General Motors plants and the electrical industry, a battle was shaping up for control of one of the country's most powerful unions, the CIO United Auto Workers.

A well-organized boom was underway for Walter Reuther as a candidate to succeed R. J. Thomas, who was expected to seek his seventh term as CIO-UAW president at the union's national convention in Atlantc City, N. J., March 23.

"Politics" Block Settlement

Both sides in the General Motors dispute charged last week that settlement of the 111-day strike was being delayed by "politics" in connection with the approaching union convention.

Reuther, General Motors strike leader and now a vice president of the union, has not announced himself as a candidate for Thomas' place, nor has he said he would not run, but he has the backing of 17 union local leaders, claiming to represent 235,000 members.

This situation overshadowed the union's stalemated negotiations with GM, which take up again in Detroit this afternoon. The deadlock includes a number of issues, including the one-cent difference between the union's demands for a 19½ cents hourly pay raise, recommended by President Truman, and the corporation's offer of 18½ cents.

Other Labor Developments

1. Members of San Francisco machinists lodge 68 voted to return to work in Bay area shipyards, reopening March 18, but not to uptown machine shops, and to secede from the Independent International Association of Machinists. Find Two Men Dead in Snowbound Car

Freeport, Ill., March 11—(AP)—Two men who were marooned in a snowbound automobile 15 miles west of here Friday and then found dead in the snowed-under car the next day died of suffocation, a coroner's jury decided

Dr Edward A. Diestelmeier, Stephenson county coroner, said the men—Nell Del Frate, 50, and Louis Gentile, 59 were on their way to Waterloo, Ia from their homes in Kenosha, Wis when the car ran off highway 20 in a snowstorm.

Del Frate's wife and daughter, Jean, were rescued by a state highway policeman. Dr Diestelmeier said, and taken to a hotel in Lena where the men were to call for them as soon as the car was extricated

A wrecker which tried to free the car failed and had to be pulled out of the drifts itself by a snow plow, the coroner disclosed. Later Friday night a snow plow passed the spot where the car had left the road on three different occasions without finding a trace of the automobile under eight to nine foot drifts.

The bodies were not found until Saturday afternoon, when a plow accidentally ran into the car, the coroner said.

Devotees of Aga Khan Match His Weight Pound for Pound in Gems

Bombay, March 11—(AP)—Ismahlite charities will benefit approximately $2,200,000 as the result of a unique ceremony yesterday at which followers of the Aga Khan matched his weight pound for pound in diamonds

Approximately 60,000 devotees looked on as the 213 pound spiritual leader of the Ismail Moslems was weighed on a specially constructed scale in the great Brabourne stadium.

While the Aga Khan reclined on a gold brocaded chair attached to one arm of the balance, quarters of industrial diamonds and handfuls of polished gems—including a 32-carat stone valued by its owner at $ 200,000—were deposited in a hopper on the other arm.

The cash value of the diamonds, representing contributions from his followers, will go to the Aga Khan to be used for Ismail welfare work.

Princes and Rajahs, many of them wearing brilliantly jeweled turbans, mingled with humbly dressed natives in a demonstration of devotion to the man they revere as the lineal descendant of Fatima, daughter of Mohammed, and a living embodiment of the dietey.

The occasion was the diamond jubilee marking the Aga Kahn's 60th year of leadership At his golden jubilee 10 years ago he was weighed in gold.

The rites of weighing were purely symbolic. The value of whatever precious stuffs are measured against the person of the Aga Khan determines the sum of money to be donated to charity. The gems will be returned to the London interests and others from whom they were borrowed.

Marine Corps Cuts Men's Point Score

The Marine Corps lowered the discharge score for men from 42 to 40 points today.

Another two point reduction will become effective April 1 and at the same time the score for women marines will be reduced from 16 to 13 points.

The corps announced that present estimates indicate virtually all personnel with combat service who are not regulars will be mustered out by midsummer.

Future reductions in point scores will be as follows: May 1, men, 38 points; women, 8; June 1, men, 28; women, 4; July 1, men, 25; women zero. Thirty months' service will make a man eligible for separation after July 1.

Trainer Plane Crash Takes Lives of Two

Watseka Ill., March 11—(AP)—A small training plane piloted by Glenn Hagenson, 27, of Watseka, a recently discharged navigator in the army air forces, crashed near here Saturday, fatally injuring Hagenson and a passenger, Miss Betty Rantz, about 25 of Chicago.

The crash ocurred shortly after Hagenson had taken off from a farm nine miles south of here, where he had gone to visit his sister, Mrs. Robert Nelson. He had flown to the farm from Sheldon, Ill., airport.

Parachutists Balk at Practice; Lose Wings and Honors

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Wing insignia and boots were summarily stripped from 168 parachute troopers who refused to jump in training exercises at Fort Bragg, N. C., last month, it has been disclosed. The men were transferred to other army units.

Reports to the war department said the jump was staged as scheduled, however on Feb. 16 with the Mexican secretary of war a spectator. Some 700 parachutists took part.

Army officials who told about the incident in response to inquiries said no further disciplinary action is planned, altho in war time refusal to jump called for court-martial. There was no formal announcement.

Ordered by Gen. Gavin

The stripping of wings and loss of extra pay was ordered by Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, who led members of his 82nd air borne division in a Fifth avenue parade in New York upon their return from fighting in Europe.

The men involved were veterans of numerous jumps, tho not in combat. All were members of the 115th parachute regiment, a part of the 13th airborne division. The division returned in August from Europe where only the 517th regiment saw fighting. The division was about to be broken up and Gavin commanded its remnants along with other units at Fort Bragg.

Approximately 130 of those who refused to jump were said in the reports to have almost enough points to assure early release from service. Some had not jumped since last summer, but had continued drawing the extra parachute pay which the army gives as compensation for hazardous duty—$50 a month for enlisted men.

War Department Order

Gavin reported last month's exercise was ordered by the war department as a training measure in accord with the parachutists' contention that "the best way to hurt oneself and kill those in the unit is not to jump and train regularly".

Plans for advance practice jumps and the final leap were outlined two weeks ahead and most of the balking group announced then they would not take part, although they had drawn their special pay only two days before.

Why the Fort Bragg group refused to jump was not specifically stated but officials assumed that with the war over, the men did not care to face the hazards involved in stepping out of a speeding plane and drifting to the ground.

"You sweat out your 50th jump just like the first," is a common observation among paratroopers.

Two men were injured in the Feb. 16 exercise. Neither required hospital treatment.

and unsanctioned". The strike has idled 43,000 other workers, including AFL and CIO machinists who refused to cross lodge 68's picket lines.

2. A strike which would have affected 14,000 New Jersey commuters was averted when members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen called off a walkout, set for 6 a. m. today, against the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Brotherhood president A. F. Whitney said he had been assured the road's employes would receive the same consideration as other members of railroad trainmen and locomotive engineers' brotherhoods whose case will be considered by an emergency fact-finding board opening hearing in Chicago tomorrow.

3. Another strike threat developed in the farm equipment industry where strikes have idled more than 50,000 CIO workers, including 30,000 employes of International Harvester Co., 3,250 employes of the Oliver Corp. and 7,500 employes of the J. I. Case Co. Production workers at the West Allis, Wis. plant of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. voted 5,200 to 447 to strike. CIO United Auto Workers officials anounced, but they were unable to say definitely whether this represented a majority of eligible workers, as required under the Wisconsin peace act before a strike may be called.

Gen. Homma's Wife in Talk With MacArthur

Tokyo, March 11—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur today received—at her own convenience—Mrs. Masaharu Homma, and promised her that he would consider carefully all the facts in the case before he would permit her husband's execution by an American firing squad.

The allied commander in a half-hour interview told the wife of his Bataan foe of 1941-42 that he "understood and sympathized", when she informed him it would be a great loss to the world if Lt. Gen. Homma were executed.

MacArthur now is reviewing the case; and his word will be final. He can uphold—or ease—the sentence.

Tokyo, March 11—(AP)—Kyodo News Agency today reported a bank of Japan survey which showed that Japanese notes in circulation had been reduced from 61,000,000,000 yen ($4,666,666,667) to 16,166,000,000 yen, $1,077,733,333) since February last year.

Yokohama, March 11—(AP)—An Eighth Army officer said today that official application forms for bringing dependents from the United States to Japan will be issued this week to officers, enlisted men and war department civilian employes.

Tokyo, March 11—(AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today that a welfare ministry survey showed 12,000 cases of smallpox and eruptive typhus cases in Japan.

Yokohama, March 11—(AP)—The transport General Ernst has arrived here with 626 Japanese repatriated from the United States. The repatriates numbering 223 men, 161 women and 242 children, will be sent to homes of their relatives after processing at Uraga.

Batavia, March 11—(AP)—Approximately 1,000 British Indian troops boarded ships today as the British began to carry out their announced policy of gradually withdrawing their forces from the Netherlands East Endies.

The embarkation followed the arrival here Saturday of 2,400 Dutch troops from Malaya. A communique issued at that time said they would replace the British forces when the latter "eventually leave".

Trieste, March 11—(AP)—A general strike started today in the whole zone of the allied military government in the Venezia Ginlia district at the head of the Adriatic where an alleged boundary commission continued its secret hearings.

The strike was called in protest to the slaying of two persons in Servola, a suburb of Trieste while police were removing a Slovene flag from a church. The strikers blamed the police.

Rome, March 10—(AP)—Officials of 436 towns and villages labored today to tabulate ballots cast for local councilmen yesterday in Italy's first free election in 25 years, but the interior ministry said the results would not be known before tonight.

The vote was characterized as heavy, despite a rainfall which it had been feared might slow the balloting in rural areas. There was a large turnout of women, who voted for the first time in Italian history.

Prices Not to Slow Production; Bowles

Washington, March 11—(AP)—Stabilization Director Chester Bowles said today he is determined that prices will not be allowed to interfere with production.

He told a news conference he believes reports that price controls have slowed the flow of goods are "fallacious" but he added that OPA and the Office of Economic Stabilization intend to "investigate every squawk we receive on this matter and to grant relief wherever it is justified".

Bowles said also that:

1. The new wage-price policy can "definitely stand" for the duration of stabilization control;

2. Coal wage and price negotiations can be handled under the formula because we can't make "any exceptions for anybody";

3. The policy will not increase the general level of prices although there will be some retail increases;

4. The recent price increases for clothing actually may cut garmen prices in general by putting a bigger supply of inexpensive clothing on the market.

Bowles expressed belief the wage-price policy will not need further major revision in replying to a reporter's point that there already have been two revisions of the original formula announced last August.

Asked if that went for coal too, Bowles replied affirmatively and added:

"The main point to keep in mind is that we can't make exceptions for anybody".

John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers are preparing to negotiate with soft coal mine operators for a new wage contract.

facturers to base their prices generally on current rather than March, 1942, costs. But it requires them to use markups of three years ago instead of the higher markups of last August which have been in effect.

Some Must Cut Prices

This OPA said last night, will mean higher retail prices for garments made by some firms. Others, the agency added, will have to cut prices, particularly if they ahvee turned to more expensive merchandise since 1943.

Louis Rothschild, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, predicted the new regulation will put on the market at least 700,000 suits which he said manufacturers have been holding for better prices.

"This should break the dam," Rothschild told a reporter.

There also was criticism of the OPA move. Leo Goodman, secretary of the CIO cost of living committee, said the only effect "will be a 20 per cent increase in the cost of men's suits, thus further lining the industry's pockets with gold while keeping returning veterans from securing much needed clothing."

OPA officials could not estimate how much the price hikes might amount to in the case of individual firms, but they said increases for some companies would be offset by reductions for others.

What this boils down to is that prices are going up in some stores and down in others, depending on the source of supply.

Canadians Fear Red Aggression

Toronto, Ont.—(AP)— Premier George A. Drew of Ontario asserted that "Russian aggression is following precisely the same pattern and using the same method as Germany used before the war," and he indicated concern over the ultimate safety of Canada's vital uranium deposits.

"The bare, unvarnished truth is that unless Russian aggression is stopped, we are in the front line," he told a convention of the Credit Granters association of Canada. "One nation and one nation alone threatens the peace of the world", he asserted, adding: "Canadians have a particular reason for being greatly concerned with the course of Russian aggression."

Three Hours From Red Airfield

Referring to Canada's northwestern area with its deposits of uranium useful for atomic bombs, he said:

"Although it is a long way inside Canada, it is about three hours flying time from the nearest Russian airfield. From early in 1940 right up to this hour Russia has been extending her occupation of foreign soil with the claim that this merely represented the extension of Russia's legitimate zone of interest for her own protection. Following that convenient doctrine, is there any reason why Great Bear lake should be less within the Russian zone of influence than Manchuria, Persia, (Iran), or Turkey?"

Cites Operation Muskox

Drew said that "you can be perfectly sure that there are operation plans in the files of the Russian general staff which contemplate the possible occupation of that relatively uninhabited area by a sudden descent of air borne troops. Granted that these plans may only be on a purely speculative basis, so also, 'operation musk ox' is on a purely speculative basis.

"But it is difficult to imagine that anyone is so naive that he thinks a northern operation of this kind is carried out for the purpose of testing our ability to defend ourselves against the inhabitants of Greenland. And yet such is our sweet simplicity that on this northern operation, which could only have one possible threat in mind, our army took along with them a Russian military observer."

Urges Common Stand

"Operation muskox" is a Canadian army expedition in the arctic with mechanized equipment and includes meteorological studies.

Drew said his remarks were not anti-Russian but anti-aggression, adding that if the people of the United States and the British empire stood together and reminded Russia they fought for the principle of free government, "then there can be peace."

Dirksen Asks for Unbridled Growth of Grains in '46

Washington, March 11—(AP)—Unbridled production of wheat, rye and other grain crops will be more helpful than an eat-less campaign in alleviating mass hunger, says Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill).

As a bilion-dollar agricultural appropriation bill was brought before the house, he questioned plans for planting $68,875,000 acres in wheat in 1946, or only 67,000 acres more than the 1945 goal.

He said in a speech he failed to understand why the president, in asking the people to eat less, did not at the same time "supplement that program by saying, 'let us produce all that the land will produce'.

"You do not make much of a dent in this field of destitution, and hunger and starvation", said Dirksen, "by having them snitch one slice of bread from your plate in a Pullman diner.

"It is good, and I go along with that program as far as it goes, but it has to be augmented."

Dirksen said he had lunch recently with a delegation from India that is seeking to buy, somewhere in the world, 2,000,000 tons of grain to ship to the "starving people" of India.

"They have worked out in India a rule of thumb by which people die—not live", said Dirksen. "For every ton of grain that they do not get as part of this minimum requirement, from 8 to 13 people will die in India within the next five months".

U. of I. Tells Story on Rubber Studies

Champaign, Ill., March 11—(AP)—The details of a research laboratory in synthetic rubber, cloaked for three years under the mantle of wartime secrecy, has been unveiled at the University of Illinois.

Wtih the pemission of the federal government, which provided $500,000 for operation of the laboratory, Prof. Carl S. Marvel revealed yesterday how a staff of 46 persons, working with rubber companies and other research groups, developed 50 new forms of the synthetic product.

Marvel, who directed the work, told how his staff had established the effect and importance of purity of materials used in the synthetic and developed analytical methods for controlling the production and quality of the product.

He predicted that within two years synthetic rubber will be "well superior" to the natural product and that the American tire industry will be "permanently free from any military or economic threats from foreign rubber sources".

Whether any of the 50 synthetic rubbers developed in the laboratory will be adopted for tire making remains to be learned, Marvel said, although he reported that some of them show advantages for specialized uses outside tire manufacturing.

The laboratory, which operated under sponsorship of the office of rubber reserve of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, did research on captured specimens of synthetic rubber made in Germany and tested a Russian process. It will continue its functions for another year.

NO COMMENT FROM ATLEE

London, March 11—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the house of commons today that Winston Churchill in his Fulton, Mo., speech of March 5 had "stated very clearly he spoke for himself only." Attlee said the government was not called upon to [redacted] "express an opinion."

The speech was attacked by Pravda in Moscow today as advocating a British-American military alliance that would spell the end of the United Nations and the breakup of the British-American-Soviet wartime coalition.

Hector McNeil, parliamentary undersecretary for foreign affairs, told Commons the question of a British-American military alliance "has not arisen."

Members of Dixon Woman's Club Hear Mrs. A. J. Hardy Saturday

Mrs. A. J. Hardy spoke on "Indians in the U. S. A." at the Dixon Woman's Club which met Saturday afternoon in the Loveland Community Building. Miss Ruth Demaree sang and played. "The Corn Song", used by the ancient Indian women when grinding corn by hand with stones.

Mrs. Hardy and her husband had experience as teachers of the Chinook Indians of the northwest, in the state of Washington. This tribe has lost its own language. Traders coming from Canada and other parts of our country, bringing in their languages, soon caused the language of this tribe to be a mere jargon of trade. The Chinook Indians live in self-owned villages and not on government reservations. They have been paid off by our government and support themselves. Fishing and weaving are their occupations. The women are very plain, squat and fat. In Mr. Hardy's class were such names as Martha Fullstomach and Jerry Nimbletoes.

The Nez Perce Indians of Idaho are wonderful athletes. These tribes did not molest the white man unless attacked. Four of their chiefs made the trip of 4,000 miles to our capital to get the book of the white man's God.

In spite of the mistreatment the white man has given them, the young American Indian of today is moving forward. His initiative is earning him many honors in American occupations and institutions. Today there are nearly 400,000 Indians and about 60,000 have surrendered their identity and mingle with the rest of our American society. They have given of their boys and girls in this war hand have put more men per capita into this war than any other race. Because of their language a valuable service was rendered by our Indian troops. The Nips found it impossible to decode their messages.

Mrs. Hardy made reference to Ruth Muskrat Bronson's book: "Indians Are People Too." This Indian author says that the problem of the Indian is quite simple. Too long our government has treated the Indian as an irresponsible child. They want the privilege of making their own decisions and a greater degree of social and political freedom. The Indian was here first and has a right to remain and we should keep informed on Indian legislation.

Mrs. Hardy, who is a member of the club, interspersed her lecture with dramatic selections of Indian poetry. She was introduced by Mrs. Earl Auman, chairman of the Indian Welfare and Conservation department.

Mrs. William Haefliger, chairman of the music department, presented Miss Ruth Demaree, South Central sixth grader and daughter of a member. Ruth played and sang "The Corn Grinding Song," by Natalie Curtis. As the Indian women swayed at their work they sang this song. The music was never written down and they didn't sing to our scale of tones. Recently Natalie Curtis has written some of the songs which are still living. Ruth also played three compositions by the American composer MacDowell: "From An Indian Lodge." "To a Water Lily," "Hungarian," and Grieg's "Norwegian Bridal Procession."

Mrs. David Marks was hostess chairman. Mrs. Elas Buka and Mrs. C. F. Eno assisted at a table decorated in St. Patricks Day motif.

Mrs. Haefliger announced that Illinois Northern Utilities chorus would sing at the next meeting.

Dixon Parley Votes to Give Large Sum to Craft Exchange

When the Past Presidents' Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Marie Hettler, there were eight members and one visitor present.

The Parleys of Illinois are taking over the plan of purchasing looms for the thousands of young veterans who have become blind or otherwise handicapped because of the war. Many of these veterans have been taught weaving and other handicraft in the hospitals, and are now at home. These looms, for rug weaving, will remain the property of the Veterans' Craft Exchange and loaned to veterans without charge. The rugs will be sold through the Exchange, thereby furnishing employment and pastime for these unfortunate young men. The Dixon Parley voted to donate a substantial amount to this project. The looms will cost $65 each.

Plans were made for a Bingo party to be held in Legion hall on the evening of March 19, proceeds to be used to purchase furnishings for the Lee County Tuberculosis association headquarters in the Dixon Public hospital.

At bunco prizes were awarded to Edna Arnould and Esther Walder, the guest prize going to Mrs. Frances Gritton of Decatur.

The next Parley meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Louise Withers, with Minnie Miller, assisting.

Says UNO Retains Most League Evils

Winter Park, Fla., March 11—(AP)—Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College and a long-time student of international peace movements, says "seventy-five per cent of the evils of the old League of Nations are retained in the present United Nations Organization".

Holt made this statement to reporters on the eve of a week-long conference here of prominent Americans from various fields of national life. They were called together by Holt to discuss the possibilities of agreeing upon and recomending "a world government strong enough to assure effective control of the atom bomb and other super-weapons".

Hollywood

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, March 11—(AP)—Makeup for men is a coming industry, says expert Perc Westmore, who ought to know.

"Forty now cosmetics for men have appeared on the market in the past few months" he said, "and more are coming".

What is the American male coming to?

"They are merely taking a tip from the girls", he answered. "After all, why are the girls so meticulos about makeup?" he supplied the answer: "First, to attract a man; second, to get him; last, to hold him.

"Now, if a guy wants to get his girl he'll also have to make the most of his face".

Westmore, who was perfectly groomed but apparently wore no makeup, proclaimed that for years men have been thefting their wives' powder and foundation cream to use after shaving and also to cover up that late afternoon shadow.

"In addition", he added, "men returning from the wars with skin blemishes have been shown that certain types of face creams can make their faces appear normal".

Westmore, who is 43, placed himself under an ultra-violet light which accented his facial lines and made him appear aged. Then he applied a beige liquid. The result made him look like a high school boy, and the makeup was undetectable.

"Don't get me wrong", he interjected. "I don't foresee the day when the average man will be wearing lipstick. But he will be using more and more cosmetcs to help his appearance".

The former Prince Carl Johan Bernadotte of Sweden and his new wife lunched with Walter Wanger. About Swedish film production the ex-Prince said: "Of course, we don't make as many pictures as Hollywood, but we manage to send a lot of our stars here"...Tim Holt out of the service and into "My Darling Clementine"...Dennis Morgan's next, "Cheyenne", with a Wyoming locale, will be shot at Flagstaff, Ariz. ... Theater managers may wonder why G. I.'s and veterans snicker at Charles Trowbridge's portrayal of a doctor in "Shock." The reason: he also played a doctor in another picture—the Army's instruction film on social disease.

A Thought for Today

And he changeth the times and seasons: He removeth kings, and sets up kings: He giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding.—Daniel 2:21.

What Hogs Can Do

The Chesapeake & Ohio and the Nickel Plate railroads do not really think we could be happier if we were hogs. Their occasional advertisements merely suggest that if a hog can ride from New Jersey to California without changing cars, your wife and child ought to be able to do likewise.

The enforced change at Chicago, St. Louis or New Orleans, for passengers on the most de luxe extra fare trains no less than for lowest rate situps in coaches, has long been a reproach to the generally efficient American railroad system. We're frank to admit that we can't imagine why other roads so calmly ignore the C & O.-Nickel Plate plea for through coast-to-coast service—or why we, the fare-paying riders, permit them to do so. Only stockholders in air lines should favor the present setup.

Poker Face

Washington's Congressman Coffee wants to know if the forthcoming atom bomb tests are designed "to intimidate the Russians." The answer is No.

Russia is a land power, not naval. These tests are primarily naval. They are to determine what an atom bomb will do to warcraft and what naval strategists ought to do about the atom bomb.

If Russia was not intimidated by what happened to Hiroshima and Nagasaki, these tests will not worry her. If she was so intimidated, then Heaven protect us against playing stud poker with Joe Stalin.

Humanitarian

The most humane soul of whom we've heard in quite a while is Howard Kugelman, department store proprietor of Urbana, O.

Mr. Kugelman scheduled a nylon-hosiery sale for a Saturday night, thus giving everyone an equal chance at the merchandise. But therein lies, not the beauty of the story.

When the ordeal was over and the inevitable battered, bruised, and disappointed hundreds had gone home, Mr. Kugelman reviewed in memory the horrible scene, then shakenly announced that he was withdrawing from the nylon business.

Is it too early for "Man of the Year" nominations?

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington—Some of the most intelligent people I talked with out around the country called me aside and asked me if I thought the Russians and their world-wide Communists were responsible for our tidal-wave of strikes, the ineffectiveness of our government and its failure to move in an orderly way toward reconversion. They suspected a world revolutionary conspiracy had achieved hidden power here and was pulling the strings or breaking them in high places to promote confusion and weakness amongst us.

I told them this:

I do not believe a conspiracy exists in the sense that a certain group of men have met and agreed to destroy this government. That would be old fashioned. Revolutions are not accomplished that way in this modern day.

I do believe a thought-conspiracy exists. Thought control has reached international dimensions through many modern devices, visible and invisible, by open propaganda but also by secret influence. Officials in public office are more often the tools of powerful political forces outside government than the directors of thought which they appear to be in public announcements.

The Communists are a very small political group in this country. Yet the things they advocate are taken up and advocated by thousands, sometimes hundreds of thousands, and on some issues by millions of our people. The Communists have found the technique of appeal here is to a sense of justice, and they have worked on this technique laboriously to induce unsuspecting and unknowing people to fight their real cause—the basic Marxian concepts of spreading confusion within capitalism and getting it to destroy itself. This is the only effective technique possible for such a domestic and world minority.

Now Hitler was at his business of influencing our minds similarly only a few years, yet he captured many an "open mind" among us. The Communists have been at it for 39 years, with less money but no greater zeal, and no less results. Their Marxist ideals have seeped down deep into our whole culture—not only in politics where inroads have been made against freedom of the individual and toward totalitarianism, but in art where they have been able to abolish normal human concepts of beauty, in literature, the theater (but less in the movies than elsewhere I have noticed).

Secret movements can be judged only by the results they obtain. There are only two powerful political forces at work in the world today and these are parliamentarianism (with parliments representing free popular voting) and statism (with dictatorial control through closed elections.) The news on the front pages each day shows the results of the conflict between these two forces—the parlimentary way and the state dictatorships—which has absorbed all other considerations.

I do not permit myself to be confused or deluded, because I measure the results of the conflict—not in arguments. I measure by whether we won or lost, whether parlimentarianism is being served by the event or where statism is being furthered.

Many of our people and our officials have been confused and deluded in varying degrees of unknowingness. The Marxists do not intend that they should know, only that their purposes be served.

To this extent, a thought-control conspiracy exists in some places here just as effectviely as if it had been entered into as a revolutionary plot, indeed more effectively, for so many are participating in it who do not know the ultimate purpose they serve.

MRS. D. C. LEAKE

(Contributed)

Mrs. Maggie May Leake, daughter of the late William and Jane Dunlop Mosely, was born in Binghamton, Lee county, Illinois, on January 25th, 1863. Although she had been in failing health for some time on account of a heart ailment and advancing years, she passed away very suddenly in her room at the Nachusa hotel, on Thursday morning, March 7th, 1946, at the ripe age of 83 years, 1 month and 10 days.

Mrs. Leake spent her early life with her parents in Binghampton. In December of 1881, she was united in marriage to Daniel C. Leake and started housekeeping on a farm at Temperance Hill, where they lived until the year 1915. She and her husband then moved to Dixon, Illinois, where they had purchased a home in Bluff Park, which property Mrs. Leake still owned at the time of her passing. Mr. Leake preceded her in death on April 9, 1930.

Mrs. Leake was a Christian woman of poise and faithfulness. When she first came to Dixon she became a member of the First Methodist church. All through the years she has manifested a great love for the church and a willingness to generously support it in every way possible. She was also a member of, and vitally interested in, the W. C. T. U. Right up to the last she was active in Red Cross work and was more than generous with her time and skill in this field of endeavor. Surely, she hath done what she could to serve both God and her fellow men. Hence there is laid up for her a crown of righteousness and there is prepared for her "a house, not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

She is survived by two foster daughters, Mrs. Henry C. Bothe and Mrs. Ezra Dewey, both of Ashton, Ill. There are also a number of nieces and nephews and a host of friends who will greatly miss her. All of her immediate family have preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted at the Preston funeral home on Saturday, March 9, in charge of Dr. Floyd L. Blewfield, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial was in the Temperance Hill cemetery.

"Now the laborer's task is o'er,
Now the battle day is past;
Now upon the farther shore,
Lands the voyager at last.
Father, in Thy gracious keeping
Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."

Fair Enough

by Westbrook Pegler

(Copyright, 1946, by King Features Syndicate.)

The testimony taken by the treasury in the stock switch conceived and directed by the late President Roosevelt in settlement of the debts and alimony obligations of his son, Elliott, was a huge bundle of photostat as released by the Democratic majority of the house ways and means committee. Few copies were given to the press, the intent of the Democrats being to make the material scarce and hard to get. They were badly embarrassed by the disclosure of their late leader's trickery and cunning and it was natural, in politicians, that they should release the news in one great, confused blurt, so large and complicated that the papers could not cover more than the high spots at the time. Thereafter, in the rush of the world, other news would crowd this sorry scandal out of print and only a few individuals possessing copies of the report would take the pains to analyze it.

As a stickler for truth in history's opinion of political giants, I have recently been examining the statements of Mrs. Ruth G. Eidson, the former wife of Elliott, given to the treasury on two dates, Sept. 10 and Sept. 14, 1945. This is the first critical study of the testimony. The first statement was made in Denver, the other in Fort Worth, which is Mrs. Eidson's home. It was explained that at the time she made her first statement, in Denver, Mrs. Eidson did not have her records with her and that, in consultation with her lawyer, after her return to Fort Worth, she decided to amplify some of her answers.

The discrepancies and lapses of memory here revealed will have to explain themselves.

It may be recalled that President Roosevelt, himself, sent Mrs. Eidson, then still Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, certain notes and shares of radio stock that had been recovered from John Hartford and David G. Baird, both of New York, on representations that Elliott was broke, which was untrue, and that the collateral was worthless. If the collateral really was worthless there was no reason why the president should have wanted to recapture it. In the end, he concluded his coup by transmitting the stock to Ruth Roosevelt for the purpose of defraying Elliott's alominy and his continuing obligation to support their children.

Jesse Jones, acting for the president, had recovered 2,000 shares from Hartford for $4,000 and 500 shares from Baird for $500. Elliott's debt to Hartford was $200,000. His debt to Baird was $40,000.

The treasury asked Ruth Roosevelt, in Denver:

"Who did you get the stock from: Jesse Jones?"

"I think it must have been given to Elliott", she replied. "I really don't know".

"But you did get the stock eventually?"

"I am not sure. I think so".

Again, Mrs. Roosevelt said she didn't know, or recall, where the stock was sent.

"It may have been sent to me or Mr. Hanger (Elliott's lawyer) or it may have been sent to Elliott", she said. This was a fortune that she was discussing so vaguely. The stock was now worth $250,000.

The treasury asked Mrs. Roosevelt whether she knew that Jones turned the stock over to Miss Grace Tully, one of President Roocevelt's secretaries. She didn't know Miss Tully had the stock. She did not communicate with Miss Tully at the White House asking her to send the stock to her.

"You are quite certain of this", the examiner said, "that the stock was not forwarded to you by Miss Tully? Is that right?"

"I didn't even know that Miss Tully had the stock", Mrs. Roosevelt said.

Four days later, she had refreshed her memory and recalled "very dimly" having written Miss Tully at Elliott's request, asking that the stock be forwarded to Fort Worth.

At this point, we turn for a moment to Elliott's own testimony in which he said: "In January, 1944, Ruth G. Roosevelt decided that she would carry out divorce proceedings, and wrote the president asking if the stock certificates were available and that she wanted them in Texas".

He also said he had inquired about the stock at the White House but "through some mistake or mixup" it was impossible to find it.

Elliott's statement that his wife asked for the collateral recaptured from his creditors and his own inquiries at the White House support a theory that from the beginning it was the president's intention not only to square his son's loans for trivial amounts but to contrive, moreover, that the lenders should pay Elliott's future obligations in alimony and child maintenance, from their food to their education.

Proceeding in the Fort Worth inquiry, the treasury presented a large manila envelope addressed to Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, postmarked: "Registered; Return Receipt Requested" and bearing in the upper left corner in typewriting the name "G. G. Tully". It was a White House envelope.

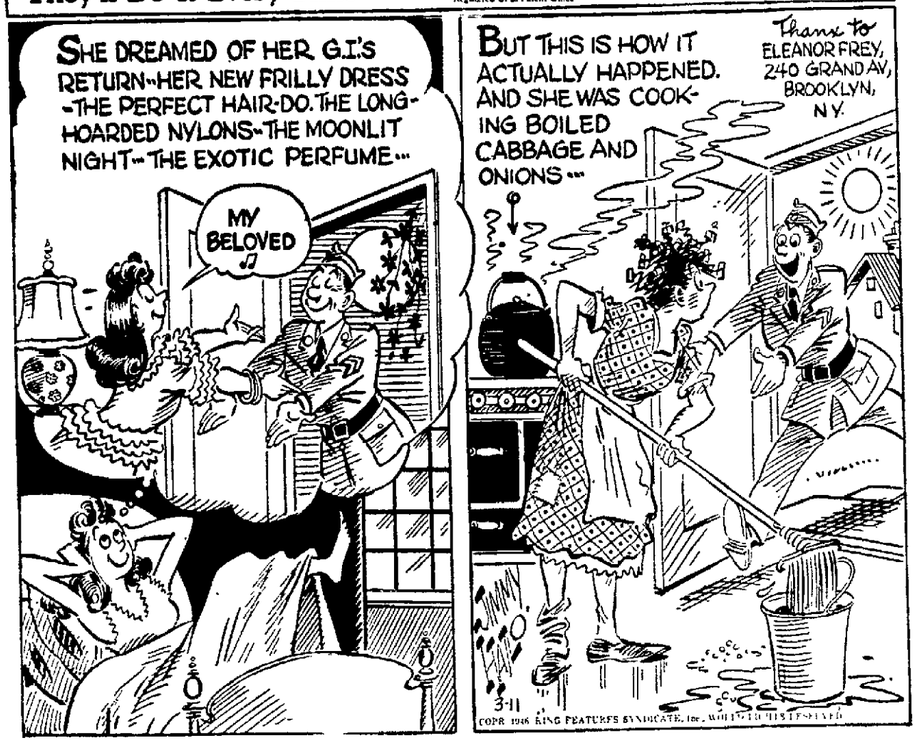

Mrs. Roosevelt now recalled that she received this envelope about Nov. 12, 1943 and she further remembered that it contained another, marked "The President" which in turn contained a third white envelope, also marked "The President".

In the white envelope there was a letter from the president to "Dear Ruth", dated Nov. 9, 1943, forwarding 2,500 shares of Texas State Network and the notes Elliott had given David Baird. Hartford's notes for $200,000 had been destroyed in the presence of Jesse Jones. The letter explained the transaction and conveyed a suggestion that she and Elliott "should make every effort to reimburse Mr. Jones". At the time of his own testimony, Jones had not been reimbursed.

Funerals

JOHN CARDINAL GLENNON

St. Louis, March 11.—(AP)—Three of America's four cardinals will attend funeral services Saturday morning for John Cardinal Glennon.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago and Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, who accompanied Cardinal Glennon to Rome for their investiture, have notified the chancery office of their acceptance of invitations.

Because of his advanced age, Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia is not expected to be present.

Cardinal Glennon's body will arrive Thursday noon from Ireland on a TWA-Transworld airline plane. It will lie in state at St. Louis Cathedral until the solemn pontifical mass Saturday.

St. Louis Auxiliary Bishop George J. Donnelly has been named administrator of the archdiocese by the board of diocesan consultors. He will supervise affairs until Cardinal Glennon's successor is named by Pope Pius XII.

THE STORY: Ann Tucker turns to a sympathetic stranger for comfort at a party following Jock's marriage to another girl. She is flabbergasted when she finds out he is Colin Drake, her favorite author. They become friends and when Ann loses her drafting job, Colin proposes that she build a new house for him. Dining together in a restaurant one evening, they accidentally meet Jock and Nina. Ann manages to keep her poise. Ann's brother, Alan, comes home for a visit. Her family questions her about Drake.

ANN opened one eye, and regarded Connie darkly. "I," she announced, "am too old to go out with college boys."

Connie nodded serenely and agreed. "That's what I thought last night. And of course you're much too young to go out with those wolves Davey keeps bringing home. I asked him didn't he know any nice men, and he said indignantly that of course he did, but all his best friends were married."

Ann climbed out of bed, and tottered over to the dressing table. She picked up a comb and listlessly ran it through her hair, regarding herself sardonically in the mirror. "All my best friends are too, that's the trouble," she said. Then she went on broodingly. "College boys, especially sophomores—I should have known better—go too many places and eat too many strange things at strange hours of the night—"

"And drink strange things?" Connie inquired idly.

"This isn't a hangover." Ann said. "These lads were the talking variety—they got drunk on words. And such words—Connie, I don't understand the younger generation," she ended sadly.

"That's too bad," Connie said sympathetically.

"It is, isn't it? Especially as they seem to be my only alternative. To wolf-culture, I mean. Which is difficult, as long as you feel I have to be chaperoned within an inch of my life with them!"

"It isn't that I don't trust you, lamb," Connie protested, "but honestly—"

"I wasn't objecting," Ann said mildly. "Another thing I'm not young enough for is the belief that wolves are necessarily interesting."

"Why don't you accept Taffy's invitation and go to Hollywood when you finish the house?" Connie said. "I mean, you can afford the trip now, can't you?"

"I'm positively feelthy rich," Ann agreed. "I suggested to Colin that he should at least deduct my board from my fee, and all his hospitable instincts were outraged. It seems that a Drake wouldn't think of having a paying guest!"

"Of course," Connie said tentatively, "when Colin comes back—"

"He'll live in Port Drake, and I'll live in Seattle, and we'll continue our charming correspondence and I still won't have anything to do on Sunday nights!"

"You know what I think?" Connie said.

"No, what?"

"You need some breakfast."

Finishing her second cup of coffee, Ann leaned back and said to Connie. "It's a horribly mundane theory, but perhaps there's something to it—anyway, I'm much more human after coffee than before."

"Who isn't?" Connie said. "Why don't you go outside and talk to the infant? She talks about you all week long—she really misses you an awful lot, you know."

ANN found Betsey playing in her sandbox, crooning happily to herself. "Ho, Ann," she said. "Hi!"

"I'm fine, thanks—and you?"

"Bekkus," Betsey said, offering Ann a revolting looking tin dishful of mud.

"Thanks, I've just had some," Ann said. "I thought you weren't allowed to play with water."

"Mik," Betsey contradicted her. "Muss and mik," she added.

"Very muss," Ann agreed, "but it's still wet." She didn't press the point, however, but regarded Betsey fondly. She was such a beautiful child—and so bright. "Hiya, sugar-plum," she said, "who do you love?" She said it complacently. The answer was almost automatic—"You!" with Betsey's most charming grin.

"Zock," Betsey answered, unexpectedly.

"What?"

"Wuv Zock," Betsey repeated obligingly.

"Hey," Ann said, walking into it, "you don't love Jock more than me, do you?"

"Yup," Betsey said, and turned her back.

"Aren't you starting a little young?" Ann asked, but Betsey ignored her. She was busy. Ann got up from her knees, and started back toward the house.

"Where goin'?" Betsey called after her.

"I'm going to talk to Connie," Ann answered. "She doesn't love Jock more than me."

"Bye," Betsey said cheerfully.

Ann told Connie about it, who laughed. "Has she seen Jock lately?" Ann asked.

"He's been by a couple of times to see her—he likes her, I guess."

"Did he ask about me?"

"Oh, he sent his regards—I didn't think you were especially interested in his regards, so guess I forgot to tell you."

"I'm not," Ann said slowly, "not in his regards. But if Jock should so much as crook his little finger in my direction you know what I'd do, don't you?"

"No you wouldn't, Ann," Connie said positively.

"It would be nice to have your touching faith in me," Ann commented a little bitterly.

Later in the day Ann told Connie that she thought she'd accept Taffy's invitation. "It might be well for me to be out of the reach of Jock's—little finger," she said slowly. "In case he should happen to feel like crooking it—"

Champaign Holds Favorite Rating as State Finals Near

Rabs Ranked Second in Voting; Dundee is Picked Fourth

Springfield, Ill., March 11—(AP)—Champaign, East Rockford, Centralia and Dundee ranked in that order today as the teams to beat in the 39th annual Illinois high school basketball championship finals.

If these four top rated quintets move through Thursday and Friday tests at Champaign—as sports editors predict in the latest Associated Press poll — Centralia would play Dundee, and Champaign would oppose East Rockford in Saturday's semi-finals.

The title match will be played Saturday night.

Champaign was given a decisive edge by sports writers, who mixed their hunches with past performances and comparative competition in evaluating title prospects.

Thirteen ballots favored Harry Combes' Champaign Maroons to annex the crown now worn by Decatur. East Rockford and Centralia received three first place votes apiece, and Kewanee got one.

Based on the poll's forecasts, here is the outlook for Thursday's first round games:

Upper bracket: Decatur over Pana, Dundee over Quincy, Centralia over Kewanee, Robinson over Pontiac.

Lower bracket: East Rockford over Tilden Tech of Chicago, Collinsville over Springfield Cathedral Marion over Calumet City, Champaign over Galesburg.

The poll looked for the closest round matches between Collinsville and Cathedral, and Decatur and Pana.

Champaign has encountered only one lower bracket entry during the regular season—Marion—and won by five points in the Christmas holiday tournament at Centralia. Decatur and Centralia, two upper bracket finalists, also have bowed to Champaign.

State title prospects of the 16 finalists were rated in this order by sports editors:

1. Champaign.
2. East Rockford.
3. Centralia.
4. Dundee.
5. Robinson.
6. Marion.
7. Decatur.
8. Kewanee.
9. Galesburg.
10. Collinsville.
11. Pana.
12. Cathedral.
13. Calumet City.
14. Quincy.
15. Pontiac.
16. Tilden Tech.

Training Camp Briefs

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 11—(AP)—Outfielder Hal Peck paid a surprise visit to manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday but departed four hours later for his Big Bend, Wis., home without discussing terms. "Peck said he came to explain that he felt badly about my having paid $20,000 for him without getting my money's worth," Mack explained. "He said he didn't believe his legs would hold up under another season of big league ball and would like to play for Milwaukee.

Anaheim, Calif., March 11 —(AP)—Dick Siebert, holdout first baseman, has notified the St. Louis Browns that he is leaving his St. Paul, Minn., home for the Browns' training camp to talk over salary differences with Manager Luke Sewell.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 11 —(AP)— Pitcher Howard Krist and catcher Gerry Burmeister had their first workouts of the season with the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday. Krist was delayed in arriving because of injuries suffered in an auto accident more than a month ago. Burmeister, who just signed a contract, was discharged from the Army last Monday.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 11 —(AP)—Manager Billy Southworth has started to pare down his bulky Boston Braves squad. Infielders Jim Coughlin and George School, and outfielder Ed Musial, Stan's younger brother, take off today to join up with the club's Indianapolis farmhands at Deland.

Avalon, Calif., March 11—(AP) —The Chicago Cubs "regulars" were happy over manager Charlie Grimm's announcement they'd have a day off from spring training today to fish, hunt or go horseback riding. The Cubs leave Wednesday for the mainland for their exhibition tour.

Los Angeles, March 11—(AP) —The Chicago White Sox, who blasted the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2 yesterday, relaxed for their next training camp game against the St. Louis Browns at Pasadena, Calif., Wednesday. Five hits, including Dario Lodigiani's two-run double, sparked a 4-run inning against the Pirates.

Tonight in the Ladies league, two fives that have been winning consistently the last few weeks to bring them up among the leaders will meet their crucial test, when Roberts & Hess, roll the top James Girls and Coca Cola takes on the Vogue Shop, tied with the James Girls for the lead. Both matches on are the last shift . . . Forrest Teer wouldn't speak to us last night and on inquiring around found we gave "Peewee" Myers credit for being high on the Myers Royal Blue five Friday night when Forrest should have had the honors with 573—the only excuse we have is that we were so startled to see "Peewee" with 564 it took our mind off the rest of the scores . . . Eddie Worley plans quite a trip when he goes to Buffalo for the A. B. C. tourney, intending to meet Bill Nixon in New York, and see the sights, the one he mentioned being the Bowery, of all places . . . Through friendship with Gabby Reynolds we had to promise not to mention his 77 game in the first set of the Mixed league last night, so you'll have to look up his scores yourself . . . The qualifying for the women's city championship, is now under way and will be rolled off in time for the winner to accompany the men's champion to the inter-city tourney.

NAIB Cage Tourney Opens in Missouri

Kansas City, March 11—(AP) — Elmore (The Great) Morgenthaler, New Mexico School of Mines' 7-foot, 1 inch self styled "Dizzy Dean' of college basketball, declared himself ready to battle Fred Lewis, Eastern Kentucky's court wizard, for individual honors in the National Intercollegiate (NAIB) Basketball tournament starting here today.

Augsburg College of Minneapolis, Minn., beaten only once in 19 games, and Washburn University (Kas.) open the tournament at 12:30 pm. (CST) today.

Other afternoon games match the University of Houston (Tex.) and High Point college (N.C.); Indiana State and Minnesota State; and Culver-Stockton (Mo.) and Wichita University (Kas.).

Loyola University of the South, New Orleans, defending champion, and Hastings college of Nebraska meet in the first night game at 6:30, followed by Central Missouri Teachers and Southern Illinois Normal; Dakota Wesleyan (S.D.) and New Mexico Mines, and George Pepperdine of Los Angeles and Arkansas State.

Eastern Kentucky, third in the tournament last year, opens against Drury college, Springfield, Mo., who is replacing Nebraska State in the 32-team field, Tuesday night.

Eight games also are scheduled for tomororw and Wednesday.

War Knight Ready for Big San Juan Handicap

Arcadia, Calif., March 11—(AP) —The scenario writers' dream horse, War Knight, will have an opportunity next Saturday to prove that his stirring victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap was no fluke.

The turf's latest ugly duckling hero is eligible for the $50,000, mile and one-half San Juan Capistrano handicap, expected to draw First Fiddle, second by a nose in the Big 'Cap; Bail Bond, Texas Sandman, Paperboy, Jeep, Autocrat, Challenge Me, and others who competed in the richest race ever run.

In a four-nose finish—the closest of nine Santa Anita handicaps —lightly regarded War Knight, owned by Ethel Hill, Hollywood scenarist, beat favored First Fiddle in 2:01 3-5 for the mile and a quarter. The Fiddle was a nose ahead of Snow Boots, which in turn had a whisker margin on Rail Bond. The winner paid $15.50, $5.50 and $3.30.

Eastern College Cage Teams Best in Nation

New York, March 11—(AP)—The East, with 15 names in a list of 36 teams beaten only five or less times, produced the best college basketball teams in the country this year, a survey based on available won-lost records showed today.

Made on the eve of the annual post-season tournament spree that gets under way this week, the survey disclosed that 11 of the remaining 21 high ranking quintets hail from the midwest; four each from the south and far west and two from the southwest.

Harvard and Yale, 14-1, top the eastern teams.

Kansas, 19-1, leads the midwestern teams followed by the Oklahoma Aggies, 26-2, Indiana 18-3, Bowling Green 27-4, Notre Dame 17-4, Ohio State 14-4, Iowa 14-4, DePaul 19-5, Akron 19-5, Northwestern 19-5, and Ohio University 15-5.

Kentucky, 25-2, heads the southern list and California, 28-4, tops the far west.

Baylor, 25-3, and Arizona, 25-4, are the southwest teams in the list.

Chicago Stadium to Ban Boxing Events

Chicago, March 11—(AP)—The Chicago Stadium, the nation's largest indoor sports arena, is closing its door on professional boxing "until we can obtain fighters who can give the fans their money's worth". Arthur M. Wirtz, executive vice president announced.

His statement came less than a week after Arturo Godoy, South American heavyweight champion, and Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., had been suspended indefinitely by the Illinois Athletic Association for their "no contest" bout in the Stadium March 1.

Steel collars were stylish for both men and women in the 1860's. Enameled white, they could be cleaned with a damp cloth.

Used cartridge cases salvaged from training grounds and battle areas were used in making new U. S. pennies.

Extinguished

Chicago— (AP)—The firemen named him Blaze and put him out.

A mongrel, Blaze wandered into engine house 51 a week ago. Because he was fairly successful at mending a few of his milder bad habits—like chewing up the fire hose —the firemen had hopes for him until yesterday.

An alarm roused the men from their second floor bunks. As the last man slid down the brass pole, Blaze plunged after him, breaking his fall on Fireman William Newton's head. Then the dog took up a stand in front of the thundering trucks, delaying their departure.

Blaze has been given to neighbor children. They promise to keep him away from engine house 51.

High Blood Pressure
A Warning of Dangerous Complications

If you suffer from High Blood Pressure, and have been unable to improve your condition with old style methods—then take time out now and ask yourself "Why has not my condition improved?"

High Blood Pressure is a warning that something is wrong with your system—something, if let go, may lead to Hardening of the Arteries, a Stroke, Paralysis, Heart Trouble, Kidney Disease, or other grave conditions.

Drugs and medicines that give only temporary relief will not do one bit of good toward removing the causes of your trouble. You must remove or allay the cause of your trouble.

The Ball Clinic, through its system of Health Correction, combined with the World's Famous Mineral Waters and Baths of Excelsior Springs, has developed a new method of treating High Blood Pressure. Every day remarkable results are being achieved with sufferers regaining better health.

AMAZING FREE BOOK

In response to the great many who have written them about their modern methods of helping High Blood Pressure sufferers to better health, the Ball Clinic has prepared an Amazing Free Book entitled "High Blood Pressure—The Killer." It tells how their modern methods correct basic conditions and troubles—how it may be possible for you to find comforting relief, better health and a new outlook on life. There is no obligation. This instructive book may save you years of untold misery. Write today to BALL CLINIC DEPT. 8465, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

Vitamins make us sturdy, but they're fragile things themselves. Unless properly protected, they vanish like the dew off the rose.

That's why the Illinois Central is still pioneering in protecting the vitamins in fresh foods, a job we began 80 years ago with the world's first refrigerated rail shipment of fresh fruit.

Right now we're experimenting with a new refrigerator car built mostly of aluminum and glass. It's designed to be so efficient that it will keep frozen foods frozen . . . and so versatile it may quickly be converted into a merchandise box car.

This experimental car is further evidence of our determined effort to provide you transportation second to none. The Illinois Central intends to earn your continued patronage and friendship.

CARNIVAL — By Dick Turner

"Maybe we shouldn't be so tough on this unemployment bill . . . suppose we don't get re-elected this year!"

Leaves from an AP War Correspondent's Notebook

BY HAL BOYLE

Cairo — (AP)—The pyramids are undergoing a business depression—and so is Husein Khattab, as their interpreter.

"Sometimes only three people a day come out here", said Khattab, who is an official dragoman or guide.

"Things were much better during the war. We used to get 500 or more soldiers at a time then".

Khattab looks melodramatically Egyptian in his tall red tassled tearboosh and flowing wool Gallabya. He can rattle off dates like Phi Beta Kappa, but the romance intrigue and warfare in the Nile valley's palmy days interest him only remotely. He looks at life and history strictly from an economic point of view.

As a result, he finds himself in disagreement with the Cheops who put 400,000 men to work for 20 years some 50 centuries ago to build the largest pyramid at Gila, just outside Cairo. The only thing Khattab approves about the whole project is that it has provided him with a job.

He became a guide two years ago after three years of study of Egypt's past required before the government would give him a guide's license. Before that he ran his own perfume shop in the "mousky", Cairo's native business quarter.

Khattab and his fellow guides toss tourists around like a well-drilled basketball team. He gives the grand picture, plodding through the desert sands like some figure out of the Old Testament. But at each tomb or temple Khattab flips you over to another guide who exacts an extra fee for his specialized knowledge. The whole business is touring a la assembly belt.

Apologizing for the ruined condition of the temples Khattab said:

"The Romans did it. They were just like the nazis. Whenever people conquer they feel they have to smash something. They're all the same".

Khattab was equally disillusioning about the Sphink, which recently has had its wartime chinrest of sandbags removed and looks like it once played football for Notre Dame and took too many kicks in the face.

"I don't know who built it—nobody knows who built it", he said. "I think it is mystery. When they first built it the priests used to reep out before dawn and hide in a hole in its head. Then they would call out and people would think it was the sphinx itself talking.

"They would throw themselves down in the sand and worship it".

All in all, you get the distinct impression from Khattab that history stinks worse than the perfume business.

Results

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—It didn't take long for Eugene Benolken, 30, World War 2 veteran, to get results from an advertisement he placed in the St. Paul Pioneer Press. It read:

"Will exchange my medals earned while saving your home for a place to call home for my wife and me".

He got more than a score of offers shortly after the ad appeared.

Strikes Cut Auto Dealers' Profits

Lack of Parts is Also Felt Sharply by Owners of Garages

Chicago.—The big demand for service and repairs enabled most auto dealers to operate profitably during the war and in the disturbed months that followed However, the failure to obtain the large number of cars expected to be made after the war has dimmed the optimistic hopes of many

Unless strikes in the industry are soon settled losses will, replace profits.

This estimate of the current automobile dealer position is based on opinions expressed by representative dealers.

Dealers profits in war time were bolstered by sales from meager car stocks carried after the government restricted car sales. Used car sales provided a substantial source of revenue until price ceilings were placed on used cars.

Parts Lack Affects Business

Now the flourishing service and repair business appears about to be impaired by a lack of parts. At a time when cars need more service and repair the supply parts required by many dealers is drying up because of strikes.

One Buick dealer reported growing anxiety among fellow dealers over the strikes. He said he wishes the basic issues involved in the strike settled now so that six months after the stoppage is ended a new one will not develop to disrupt his business.

The Buick dealer said price ceilings on used cars has prevented him from buying these cars at prices that will enable him to repair, recondition, and resell them at a satisfactory profit. He said that although it is common knowledge that used car ceilings are being flouted by the public and some dealers, long established firms such as his cannot afford to do anything that would jeopardize their position or reputations.

Resort to Junk Yards

With the used car business largely gone, the Buick dealer, whose case is typical, said he has had to rely more on service and repairs. Now it is impossible to obtain virtually all parts. His service department is forced to go to junk yards for old parts and to have some items copied by small machine shops, a practice that has not been very successful.

The dealership's profits, slipped to slightly above $100 in January and below $50 in February after salary payments to the company officers

One large Ford dealer said his service and repair business had not been sufficient to enable him to meet his overhead and he had engaged in other ventures to carry him through until cars are delivered again in large volume. A large Chevrolet dealer said that he also had been unable to meet expenses by service and repairs.

Some Dealers Carry On

The larger dealerships, with extensive and elaborate show facilities, have not been able to operate profitably through service and repairs alone. Loss of the major part of their used car business ended their profits. However, medium and small sized dealerships which had cut their costs to the bone have been able to carry on through their service departments.

Several dealers who shortly after the war started expanding their sales force in expectation of big business have had to discharge their new employes.

The automobile industry expected that by this time more than 1,250,000 cars would have been sold Actually only about 200,000 cars have been placed in dealers' hands and most of these must be retained for show purposes.

Big Loss to Merchandisers

A Detroit estimate placed the loss from the strike to merchandisers of General Motors corporation cars at about 150 million dollars. Many weeks will elapse after G. M. plants get back into production before dealers can cash in on new car sales. Packard Motor company, which relies or G. M. for certain bearings, also will require several weeks after the end of the G. M. strike to get back into production.

Ford Motor company, the various divisions of Chrysler corporation, Hudson Motor Car company, Nash-Kelvinator corporation, and Studebaker corporation are slowly picking up speed on the assembly lines.

Tax Quiz

BY NIGEL D. CAMPBELL
Collector of Internal Revenue

(Editor's note: This the the eleventh of a series of 15 brief articles, in question and answer form, explaining how to fill out your federal income tax return The deductions mentioned in this article can be taken only if you file your Withholding Receipt or a short form return on Form 1040, you will receive a standard allowance equal to about 10 per cent of your income in place of these deductions.)

Q. What kinds of charitable contributions are deductible?. A. Only those given to incorporated public organizations such as churches, community chests, veterans organizations, relief societies, and many libraries, schools and hospitals You cannot deduct gifts to relatives or other individuals.

Q. What are some examples of deductible interest payments? A. Interest on a home mortgage, interest on a bank loan, etc.

Q. What kinds of taxes are deductible? A. State income taxes, most state gasoline and sales taxes (if tax is shown separately on the price tag), state and local property taxes (but not paving or other improvement assessments). You cannot deduct any federal taxes of any kind on Page 3 of Form 1040 (although some federal taxes can be deducted as business expenses on Page 2).

Q. What is meant by "casualty losses"? A. These are usually losses from fires, automobile accidents, storms, hurricanes, etc., after deducting recoveries from insurance, salvage, etc.

Q. What kinds of medical expenses can be deducted? A. The most common are: doctor, dentist, hospital bills; medicines, eye glasses, braces, x-rays, artificial limbs hearing aids; nurses' wages, ambulance service premium for health and accident insurance. A portion of your medical expenses, equal to 5 per cent of your income, is not deductible. The remainder is deductible up to $1,250 if you claim only one exemption on your return, up to $2,500 if you claim more than one exemption.

Q. What kinds of deductions are included under the heading "miscellaneous"? A. Certain job expenses as union dues and subscriptions to professional journals, certain investment expenses such as legal fees, alimony, and the special $500 deduction for blind persons.

Tomorrow: Members of the Armed Forces.
